CHERYL AND MICHAEL MINIKES

FROM THE PRESIDENT AND HOST OF THE EVENING // ERIC FISCHL

Good evening!

As President of Guild Hall's Academy of the Arts, I'm honored to welcome you to our Lifetime Achievement Awards Dinner. We offer our lucky attendees a night of food, stellar company, penetrating addresses from leaders in the arts, and very special music as we celebrate the careers of serious contributors to the art world. Each was selected by the Academy membership, a society of accomplished art professionals capped at 200 living members who live at least part of the year in the vibrant art community of the East End.

Tonight we very proudly honor Alice Aycock for Visual Arts, Carter Burwell for Performing Arts, and Bob Colacello for Literary Arts. How pleased we are that Patti Kenner will accept a Special Award for Leadership and Philanthropy. Tonight we thank them for inspiring us by sharing their visionary work.

With live music provided by Tovah Feldshuh and Yo La Tengo, we expect you'll enjoy an up-tempo time.

You will hear presentations of awards from such international luminaries as Ethan Coen, Adam Weinberg, and Linda Yablonsky, with Adam Green acting as Master of Ceremonies and Andrea Grover helping us award our honorees. Let's all thank them for weaving a magical evening. And many thanks to each of you for attending!

ERIC FISCHL

For Your Dedication
And Great Contributions To The Arts

MARTY AND MICHELE COHEN

Dear Guests,

We believe in artists. This evening is a tribute to that basic tenet of Guild Hall. Artists lead us. Artists feed our minds and spirits.

When Guild Hall was founded in 1931, it was the first multidisciplinary center in the country, combining a museum, theater, and education program. Artists quickly flocked to Guild Hall and saw it as a platform for creative expression. At one time, Edward Albee was co-director of the John Drew Theater, Alfonso Ossorio organized the Members Exhibition, and Jackson Pollock and Lee Krasner hung their work in it. Guild Hall has always been loved by artists.

Tonight, we honor the creative visionaries of this moment. Carter Burwell, whose music carries the narrative of dozens of motion pictures; Alice Aycock, who fearlessly pioneered monumental sculpture at the intersection of art and science; Bob Colacello, whose words chronicle the remarkable individuals of our time; and Patti Kenner, a tireless advocate for advancement, who created a fellowship for arts educators at Guild Hall. And we also honor you, our supporters, who are helping build the Guild Hall of the future. Enjoy the evening!

With appreciation,

ANDREA GROVER
Executive Director

MARTY COHEN
Chairman

Congratulations to all of tonight's honorees, and my dear friend Alice Aycock for her Achievement in Visual Arts.

Alice Aycock has lived in New York City since 1968. Aycock received a B.A. from Douglass College and an M.A. from Hunter College. Her works can be found in numerous collections including the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum, the Brooklyn Museum, the Louis Vuitton Foundation, the LA County Museum, the National Gallery of Art, the Sheldon Museum of Art, Storm King Art Center, Omi International Arts Center, and the Sprengel Museum in Hanover, Germany. A traveling retrospective was organized by the Wurttembergischer Kunstverein in Stuttgart (1983) and a retrospective was held at Storm King (1990). In 1997, the artist's one person exhibition Alice Aycock: Waltzing Matilda was mounted at Guild Hall. In 2013, a retrospective of her drawings and small sculptures was exhibited at the Parrish Art Museum in Water Mill, New York coinciding with the Grey Art Gallery in New York City.

Aycock's public sculptures can be found in many major cities in the U.S., including East River Park Pavilion at 60th Street in New York City (1995/2014); San Francisco Public Library (1996); JFK International Airport, NY (1998/2013); GSA Building, Baltimore, MD (2004); Nashville, TN (2008); and Washington Dulles International Airport (2012). In 2014, a series of seven sculptures were installed in New York City, entitled Park Avenue Paper Chase, in collaboration with Galerie Thomas Schulte, Berlin. In 2016, she completed a large-scale outdoor public artwork in Coral Gables, FL, and an entrance sculpture for the new MGM National Harbor, MD. She installed a sculpture for the lobby of 50 West, New York, NY in July 2017. A permanent large-scale installation was inaugurated at Pier 27 on the Toronto waterfront in the fall of 2017. Currently she is represented by Marlborough Gallery, New York and Galerie Thomas Schulte, Berlin. She had her first solo exhibition of new sculptures with Marlborough in the fall of 2017.

PERFORMING ARTS AWARD

PATTI KENNER

SPECIAL AWARD FOR LEADERSHIP AND PHILANTHROPY

HAMPTONS
INTERNATIONAL
FILM FESTIVAL

Carter Burwell has composed the music for a number of feature films, including Blood Simple, Raising Arizona, Miller's Crossing, Barton Fink, Rob Roy, Fargo, The Spanish Prisoner, Gods and Monsters, Velvet Goldmine, Being John Malkovich, Before Night Falls, Adaptation, In Bruges, Twilight, True Grit, Anomalisa, Carol, Wonderstruck, and Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri.

His theater work includes the chamber opera The Celestial Alphabet Event and the Mabou Mines productions Mother and Lucia's Chapters of Coming Forth by Day.

In 2005 he developed a concert work for text and music titled Theater of the New Ear, presented in New York, London, and Los Angeles. The text, by Joel and Ethan Coen and Charlie Kaufman, was performed by a dozen actors including Meryl Streep, Steve Buscemi, Philip Seymour Hoffman, Hope Davis, Peter Dinklage, and Jennifer Jason Leigh. The music was performed by the Parabola Ensemble, conducted by Burwell.

His dance compositions include the pieces The Return of Lot's Wife, choreographed by Sara Pearson and Patrik Widrig, and RABL, choreographed by Patrice Regnier. He has performed around the world with his own ensembles as well as others, such as The Harmonic Choir.

His writing includes the essay Music at Six: Scoring the News Then and Now, published in the inaugural issue of Esopus magazine in 2003 and reprinted in Harper's Magazine, and the essay No Country For Old Music in the 2013 Oxford Handbook of New Audiovisual Aesthetics.

While completing his B.A. at Harvard College he pursued independent study at the MIT Media Lab. After graduation, he was a senior computer scientist at Cold Spring Harbor Lab and the New York Institute of Technology. He has taught and lectured at The Sundance Institute, New York University, Columbia University, and Harvard University.

FAPE
FOUNDATION FOR ART AND PRESERVATION IN EMBASSIES

The Board of Directors and Staff of
Foundation for Art and Preservation in Embassies
congratulates our beloved Board Member

BOB COLACELLO

on tonight's award and thanks him for his extraordinary commitment to the arts

The Foundation for Art and Preservation in Embassies (FAPE) is a public-private partnership with the U.S. Department of State dedicated to providing permanent works of American art for U.S. embassies worldwide.

Bob Colacello was born in Brooklyn and raised on Long Island. He graduated Georgetown University School of Foreign Service in 1969, and Columbia University Graduate School of the Arts in 1971. By then, he had been hired to run Andy Warhol's new magazine, Interview, a job he held for 13 years, becoming one of the artist's closest creative collaborators. His memoir of that period, Holy Terror: Andy Warhol Up Close, has been widely acclaimed as the best book on the so-called "Pope of Pop."

From 1984 to 2017, Colacello was under exclusive contract to Vanity Fair, writing profiles and investigative pieces on cultural, social, and political subjects. In 2004, he published the first of a two-volume biography of the Reagans, Ronnie and Nancy: Their Path to the White House. He is currently writing the second volume on the White House years and afterward.

In 2016, he curated his first art show at the Vito Schnabel Gallery in St. Moritz, Switzerland.

HONOREE FOR SPECIAL AWARD FOR LEADERSHIP & PHILANTHROPY //
PATTI ASKWITH KENNER

Patti Kenner is an indefatigable advocate for social causes, including arts education, women in politics, Holocaust survivors and history. In addition to serving as a long time Guild Hall trustee, Patti is a Board member of the Defiant Requiem Foundation, the Museum of Jewish Heritage-A Living Memorial to the Holocaust, Carnegie Mellon University, the American Heart Association and many others. In 2019, she underwrote the Patti Kenner Fellowship in Arts Education at Guild Hall to help enhance educational programming for youth.

Patti was born in New York City and grew up in Harrison, NY. She graduated with a degree in French from Carnegie Mellon University and received her Master's degree in Early Childhood Education from Columbia University Teachers College. Following 10 years of teaching, she joined her father at Campus Coach Lines, the charter bus company he founded as a student at the University of Michigan in 1928, and which he ran until he passed away recently at 104. Patti is now President of Campus Coach.

She has served as a Trustee of her alma mater Carnegie Mellon for over 25 years and just dedicated the Askwith Kenner Global Languages and Cultures Room, featuring virtual reality stations that enable students to take simulated trips around the world. Combining her love of education and the arts, Patti serves on the board of the University Musical Society at the University of Michigan which brings theater and music to the Ann Arbor community. She is currently co-producing a documentary film on the Swedish architect, businessman, diplomat, and humanitarian Raoul Wallenberg, who saved tens of thousands of Jews in Nazi-occupied Hungary and was a student at the University of Michigan. For over 30 years, she has served on the Board of the Educational Alliance, a 125-year-old social service agency on the Lower East Side. Patti's daughter Julie and her two younger grandchildren live in Aspen, Colorado while her two older grandchildren attend high school and college on the East Coast, and they all spend the summer with Patti in East Hampton. She is proud of her lengthy Board service to Guild Hall and to be part of an organization that gives back so much to the community. She dedicates her commitment to Guild Hall to the memory of former Chairman, Mickey Straus, who insisted Patti become involved with this important institution.

RICHARD OLDENBURG

1933–2018

Richard Oldenburg, the brother of pop artist Claes Oldenburg, came to MoMA in 1969. He was initially hired by the museum to run its publications division. He was a well-liked man, according to the late Blanchette Rockefeller, a two-time president of the museum. Though he lacked a curatorial agenda, he did insist on weekly lunches of sandwiches and wine with his top curators. John Elderfield, the former Chief Curator of Painting and Sculpture at the institution, said: "They were often rowdy. Dick was often exasperated, but had the knack of bringing a meeting to a close without promising anything at all and dealing with problems individually behind closed doors—or not. He had the further diplomatic talent of not doing anything at all so that problems went away by themselves—at least, usually."

During his time at the museum, Oldenburg increased MoMA's annual budget from $7 million to $50 million; pushed its endowment up to $180 million from $20 million; and raised its attendance numbers considerably. "When I think of Dick and the gift he gave me and the curators, it was a sense of stability," said Glenn D. Lowry, MoMA's current director.

Oldenburg, unlike his famous sibling, never made art, and he understood that the artist's life was not for him. "[Claes] had the free spirit which I longed for," he told People Magazine in 1984. "But I was born with an excess of caution." - Courtesy of Artforum

ACADEMY OF THE ARTS FOUNDERS//

Original Awards Committee: (standing) Roy Lichtenstein, Frank Perry, Joseph F. Cullman 3rd, Peter Jennings, Sydney Gruson, Wilfred Sheed; (seated) Elaine Steinbeck, Henry Geldzahler, Sherrye P. Henry

In 1985, in recognition of the abundance of visual, literary, and performing artists in the Hamptons, Guild Hall's Board of Trustees initiated an awards program and honored local luminaries Kurt Vonnegut, Willem de Kooning, and Alan Alda. The following year, the Guild Hall Academy of the Arts was founded by Roy Lichtenstein, Frank Perry, Joseph F. Cullman, III, Peter Jennings, Sydney Gruson, Wilfred Sheed, Elaine Steinbeck, Henry Geldzahler, and Sherrye P. Henry as an association of talented artists and arts professionals who have an affiliation with Guild Hall.

 In memoriam*

Bob,
You are a force of nature!
A cultural beacon who stewards the creative consciousness into new paradigms.

Thank you for all of your wise counsel and advice over the many years we have known one another.
