GUILD HALL WILLIAM P. RAYNER

The Guild Hall William P. Rayner Artist-in-Residence program offers artist collectives the time & space to research, experiment, and develop new ideas and projects. Artists are provided with creative mentorships and administrative support, a commissioning fee, living space, and a purpose-built studio on an exclusive property.

Throughout several 2-4 weeklong residencies, residents connect with accomplished artists, community leaders, and philanthropists at weekly salon dinners. They receive mentorship from select members of the Guild Hall Academy of the Arts and professional staff, while visiting artist studios, cultural centers, and the natural landscape of the Hamptons. The program culminates with a presentation of works-in-process for either an invited or public audience. Invited audiences consist of artists, community leaders, philanthropists, and industry professionals with the intention of raising support and potential transfer of work to other institutions. The presentation can take the shape of a curated exhibition, performance, recital, outdoor installation, reading, lecture, or other format.

ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM

Residents are invited to the program by a committee of celebrated artists, creative professionals, members of Guild Hall's Academy of the Arts, and Senior Leadership. Past selection committee members have included composer Carter Burwell, artist Eric Fischl, architectural writer Paul Goldberger, photographer Ralph Gibson, theatre-maker Stephen Hamilton, science writer Dava Sobel, director/choreographer Susan Stroman, creative writer Frederic Tuten, artist Carrie Mae Weems, and poet Phil Schultz.

NOW HERE

On View Now Through October 2 at the Amagansett U.S. Life-Saving Station

160 Atlantic Avenue, Amagansett

The No W here Collective, including artists Alice Hope, Toni Ross, and Bastienne Schmidt present NOW HERE, curated by Christina Mossaides Strassfield. The project responds to the Life Saving Station's faking box, which embodies a formal aesthetic that relates to the Collective's original artifact and inspiration, the Metropolitan Museum's Marshallese Navigation Chart.

NOW HERE is supported by Judi Caron, Jane Wesman and Don Savelson, with additional support by Judith Hope. Guild Hall's museum programs are made possible by the New York State Council on the Arts with the support of the Office of the Governor and the New York State Legislature, an anonymous donor, Crozier Fine Arts, and funding from The Michael Lynne Museum Endowment, and The Melville Straus Family Endowment.

Hamptons Chapter

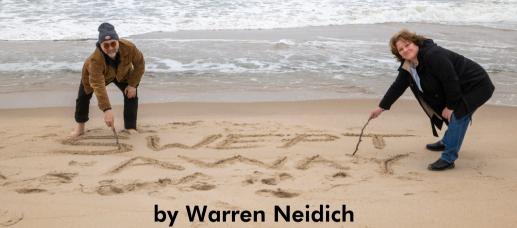

We are scheduled to speak directly to students and educators regarding bullying prevention. We need to protect our children from being bullied at all ages.

Let's stop bullying before it leads to locking down schools. We are here for prevention and education to stop bullying.

Swept Away: Love Letter to a Surrogate(s)

Saturdays, September 10, 17, 24, and October 1, 6-10PM

Main Beach, 101 Ocean Avenue, East Hampton

In collaboration with Guild Hall's Museum Director/Chief Curator Christina Mossaides Strassfield, artist Warren Neidich will curate performances and time-based exhibitions at Main Beach in East Hampton. Swept Away is meant to take place at the water's edge, and the syncopated sound of the surf will provide the background acousmatics.

70 artists living on the East End and 70 west coast artists are participating in this community and family-based Art Happening. Each local artist has been linked to an artist on the west coast who will email instructions (a love letter) for a work of art that the artist will incorporate into their piece, thereby acting as a surrogate. They will create ephemeral performative gestures of immateriality or time-based works on the beach, which might include making a sandcastle, singing a song, reciting poetry, dancing, making a sculpture that interacts with the tide, doing light projection on Main Beach pavilion, etc.

Thank you, Kathy, for your grand and generous gift to the East Hampton community and heartiest thanks to the Guild Hall management and staff for for all that you do to bring us the best of the arts year after year!
